A talented young forward with a unique skill set, Pavel Buchnevich has been a valuable offensive contributor during his tenure in New York and set a career high in 2018-19 with 21 goals. A third round draft choice of the Rangers in 2013, Buchnevich moved to New York from Russia in 2016 and finished 8th among all NHL rookies in P/60 min. (2.21). The Cherepovets, Russia, native tallied 87 points (37 goals, 50 assists) in 158 games in the KHL from 2012-2016.

Buchnevich ranks 3rd among Russian players in NYR history in goals (49), 4th in points (122), and 5th in assists (73).

ONE TIMERS

- Nickname: Booch
- Greatest passion besides hockey: Movies
- Person he'd trade places with for a day: Lionel Messi
- Ranger he'd trade places with for a day: Henrik Lundqvist
- Dinner guest: Wayne Gretzky
- Actor that would play him in a movie: Jason Statham
- On his bucket list: Going into space
- Collects: Magnets
- Guilty pleasure: Video games
- Most listened to artist: David Guetta
- Favorite meal: Homé fries
- Cartoon character: Bugs Bunny
- Superhero: Incredible Hulk
- Book: “Game of Thrones” series
- Movie: Plus One
- Animal his teammates would compare him to: Wolf
- Funniest Ranger: Tony DeAngelo
- Favorite NYC restaurant: EN Japanese Brasserie

LOOSE PUCKS

- Owns a white labrador retriever named “Deia”
- His favorite teams growing up were of Severstal Cherepovets (hockey) and Real Madrid (soccer)
- His hidden talent: “I sing well. I really enjoy it.”
- Played soccer and hockey as a child
- Says if he wasn't playing hockey, he would try to become a manager of a large soccer team, preferably Real Madrid

RUSSIAN ROULETTE

Buchnevich ranks 3rd among Russian players in NYR history in goals (49), 4th in points (122), and 5th in assists (73).