NEW YORK RANGERS HOCKEY CLUB | TWO PENNSYLVANIA PLAZA, NEW YORK, NEW YORK 10121 | (212) 465-6486
James L. Dolan is Executive Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of The Madison Square Garden Company (MSG), a leading live entertainment company renowned for its world-famous arena complex, professional sports teams, entertainment properties and historic showplaces. Mr. Dolan also serves as Executive Chairman of MSG Networks Inc., which includes two award-winning regional sports and entertainment networks.

In his role at MSG, Mr. Dolan is responsible for the Company’s overall growth strategy and oversight of its operations. He also serves as governor to the National Basketball Association and the National Hockey League on behalf of the New York Knicks and New York Rangers.

Throughout his tenure, Mr. Dolan has spearheaded an ambitious vision to ensure the Company continues to set the standard for live sports and entertainment. This includes the Company’s plans to build state-of-the-art venues in Las Vegas and London, called MSG Sphere, that will pioneer the next generation of immersive experiences. Mr. Dolan first introduced his strategy for a large-scale music and entertainment focused venue in January 2014 with the successful re-opening of the legendary Forum arena in Inglewood, California. Mr. Dolan was also the catalyst for the restoration of the Company’s cherished national landmark, Radio City Music Hall, in 1999, as well as the famed Beacon Theatre in early 2009. This was followed by the three-year, top-to-bottom transformation of the Madison Square Garden Arena, which was completed in October 2013. MSG’s venues also include The Chicago Theatre, which was built in 1921 as one of the country’s most opulent motion picture houses.

In addition to its portfolio of landmark venues, MSG owns and operates professional sports teams, the New York Knicks and New York Rangers, as well as entertainment properties, including the Christmas Spectacular Starring the Radio City Rockettes. MSG has expanded its live offerings through investments in Boston Calling Events, which produces the Boston Calling Music Festival; TAO Group, a hospitality group with globally-recognized entertainment dining and nightlife brands; and Counter Logic Gaming, a leading North American esports organization.

Mr. Dolan has led MSG’s response to local and national tragedies. He played a principal role in organizing several extraordinary benefit concerts, including “12-12-12,” which raised more than $50 million for the victims of Hurricane Sandy; “The Concert For New York City,” which generated more than $35 million in aid for 9/11 victims and heroes; and “From The Big Apple to The Big Easy,” which raised nearly $9 million for Hurricane Katrina relief. Mr. Dolan also supports both MSG’s and MSG Networks Inc.’s ongoing commitment to the community, particularly through the Garden of Dreams Foundation, the non-profit charity that works with both companies to help children throughout the New York metropolitan area.

In addition to his oversight of MSG, Mr. Dolan also serves as Executive Chairman of MSG Networks Inc., which became a standalone media company following the 2015 spin-off of The Madison Square Garden Company. MSG Networks Inc. is comprised of MSG Network and MSG+, which together annually telescast more than 450 live professional games, along with a comprehensive lineup of other sporting events, as well as critically-acclaimed original programming.

Mr. Dolan served as Chief Executive Officer of Cablevision Systems Corporation from 1995 until June 2016, when the leading media and telecommunications company, which served as MSG’s parent company until 2010, was sold to Altice. Prior to his role as Cablevision CEO, Mr. Dolan was Chief Executive Officer of Rainbow Media Holdings, the former Cablevision programming subsidiary now known as AMC Networks Inc. Mr. Dolan began his career with Cablevision in the 1970s and held a variety of executive positions before overseeing Rainbow Media.

Mr. Dolan serves on the board of directors for MSG, MSG Networks Inc., and AMC Networks Inc. He is also on the board of The Lustgarten Foundation, an organization he helped found in 1998, which today is the nation’s largest private supporter of pancreatic cancer research. Since its inception, the Foundation has directed more than $165 million to research and assembled the best scientific minds to help find a cure.
As President of The Madison Square Garden Company (MSG), Andrew Lustgarten is responsible for driving both internal and external opportunities for growth. He oversees MSG’s entertainment and sports bookings and productions businesses, as well as all aspects of the business operations of the Company’s professional sports franchises. In addition, Mr. Lustgarten drives the Company’s corporate development activities, including new strategic opportunities, initiatives and partnerships, as well as the Company’s plans to build state-of-the-art venues, called MSG Sphere, in Las Vegas and London.

The Company’s signature assets consist of some of the nation’s most dynamic and powerful sports and entertainment brands. This diverse collection of properties includes a portfolio of iconic venues: New York’s Madison Square Garden, Hulu Theater at Madison Square Garden, Radio City Music Hall and Beacon Theatre; the Forum in Inglewood, California; and The Chicago Theatre. In addition, MSG owns and operates professional sports teams, the New York Knicks and New York Rangers; and entertainment properties, including the Christmas Spectacular Starring the Radio City Rockettes.

Before being named President in 2017, Mr. Lustgarten served for three years as Executive Vice President of Corporate Development and Strategy and, during that time, was responsible for a variety of critical areas. He effectively oversaw MSG’s live operations, including its bookings businesses at all of the Company’s iconic venues. In addition, he was responsible for diversifying MSG’s portfolio of live offerings, overseeing MSG’s acquisitions of controlling interests in TAO Group, a world-renowned hospitality group; Boston Calling Events, which produces the premier Boston Calling Music Festival; and Counter Logic Gaming, a leading North American esports organization; as well as the Company’s purchase of a minority stake in Townsquare Media, a media, entertainment and digital marketing solutions company. Mr. Lustgarten also played an integral role in the Company’s investment in and expansive marketing partnership with DraftKings, the fantasy sports giant, and has introduced innovative new opportunities such as bringing the first-ever esports events to The Garden and spearheading strategic investments in virtual reality leaders, Jaunt and NextVR.

Previously, Mr. Lustgarten spent seven years at the National Basketball Association, where he served as Senior Vice President, Global Strategy, and before that, Special Assistant to the Commissioner. He played a key role in the negotiation of the league’s landmark media rights deals in 2014 and its collective bargaining agreement. He oversaw the NBA’s global strategy group, which focuses on the league’s global initiatives, media opportunities and new ventures, including equity investment structuring. Mr. Lustgarten was also involved in numerous strategic initiatives, including the league’s revenue sharing plan, the formation of a $253 million external investment in NBA China, and the investment in one-day fantasy sports operator FanDuel. Prior to joining the NBA, Mr. Lustgarten worked at Cablevision Systems Corporation in finance and in investment banking at Bear Stearns & Co.

In March 2014, Mr. Lustgarten was named to Sports Business Journal’s Forty Under 40 list of the most influential executives in sports under 40 years old. He is on the board of directors of TAO Group, Boston Calling Events, and Counter Logic Gaming. He is also on the boards of the Garden of Dreams Foundation, a non-profit organization that works closely with all areas of MSG to positively impact the lives of children facing obstacles, and the Lustgarten Foundation for Pancreatic Cancer Research, the nation’s largest private supporter of pancreatic cancer research. In addition, Mr. Lustgarten serves on the board of governors for the National Basketball Association and the National Hockey League on behalf of the New York Knicks and New York Rangers.

Mr. Lustgarten earned an M.B.A. from Columbia Business School, with concentrations in finance and management, and received a Bachelor’s degree in Economics from the University of Pennsylvania. He lives in New York with his wife and three children.
One of the most popular figures in franchise history, John Davidson returns to the Rangers organization as the team's President after being named the 11th President in franchise history on May 17, 2019.

Davidson joins the Rangers’ front office after spending the past seven seasons as the President of Hockey Operations for the Columbus Blue Jackets (2012-13 – 2018-19). During his tenure with the Blue Jackets, which began on October 24, 2012, Davidson oversaw the most successful years of the franchise’s 18-season history. He began his tenure with Columbus following a season in which the Blue Jackets had the fewest points in the NHL. During Davidson’s seven seasons with the Blue Jackets, the team registered a 285-209-46 record (.570 points percentage) and posted a winning record in six of the seven seasons.

Columbus advanced to the Stanley Cup Playoffs in four of Davidson’s seven seasons with the team, including each of the final three seasons, and won its first playoff series in franchise history in the First Round of the 2019 Stanley Cup Playoffs by defeating the Tampa Bay Lightning. From 2016-17 – 2018-19, Columbus ranked fourth in the NHL in wins (142), trailing only Tampa Bay (158), Washington (152), and Boston (143). The Blue Jackets earned four of the franchise’s five all-time playoff berths during Davidson’s tenure, and the team established single-season franchise records with 50 wins and 108 points during the 2016-17 season. Davidson helped Columbus build its roster through the NHL Entry Draft, as several current Blue Jackets such as Zach Werenski, Pierre-Luc Dubois, and Oliver Bjorkstrand were selected by Columbus during his tenure. Columbus also acquired Seth Jones and Artemi Panarin in trades while Davidson was the team’s President of Hockey Operations.

Prior to serving as the Blue Jackets’ President of Hockey Operations, Davidson served in the same role with the St. Louis Blues for six seasons (2006-07 – 2011-12). Upon his arrival in St. Louis on June 30, 2006, Davidson took over a team that finished with the fewest points in the NHL the previous season. In his six seasons with the Blues, the team posted a 235-189-68 record (.547 points percentage) and registered a winning record in each of the final four seasons. In Davidson’s final season with the Blues, the team helped assemble a 49-22-11 record for 109 points and won the Central Division for the first time in II seasons. Davidson also helped St. Louis build its team through the NHL Entry Draft, selecting players who impacted the Blues not only during his tenure, but also after he left the organization. While he was St. Louis’ President of Hockey Operations, Davidson played a key role in the team’s selection of players such as current Blues captain Alex Pietrangelo, Vladimir Tarasenko, David Perron, and Ian Cole, who all played for St. Louis during Davidson’s tenure. In addition, players such as Jordan Binnington, Jaden Schwartz, Jake Allen, Colton Parayko, and Joel Edmundson were all selected by the Blues during Davidson’s tenure and have played key roles for St. Louis following Davidson’s departure.

Prior to beginning his career as an NHL executive, “JD” spent nearly three decades in New York, first as a player with the Rangers and then with MSG Network as a TV Analyst. Davidson played parts of eight seasons with the Rangers (1975-76 – 1982-83), posting a 93-90-25 record in 222 appearances. During the 1979 Stanley Cup Playoffs, he posted an II-7- record, along with a 2.28 GAA, a .921 SV%, and I SO in 18 appearances while helping the Blueshirts advance to the Stanley Cup Finals. Davidson led the Rangers to a six-game series win against the Islanders in the Semifinals in 1979, posting a 4-2 record, along with a 2.10 GAA and a .914 SV% in the six contests. In 2006, the Rangers’ series win against the Islanders was ranked 28th on “The 50 Greatest Moments at Madison Square Garden” list. Selected by St. Louis in the first round (fifth overall) of the 1973 NHL Amateur Draft, Davidson appeared in 301 career NHL games with the Blues and Rangers during his 10-year NHL career.

Following his retirement as a player, Davidson began his broadcasting career with MSG Network during the 1983-84 season and joined MSG Network full-time for the 1986-87 season. Davidson and Sam Rosen were broadcast partners for 20 years on MSG Network (1986 – 2006). His insightful and honest analysis, along with his famous “Oh Baby” call, endeared him to Rangers fans and earned respect throughout the broadcasting industry. He won two New York Emmy Awards for “Outstanding On-Camera Achievement” in 1995 and 2001 and was part of MSG’s Rangers broadcast team that won the CableACE Award for “Outstanding Live Event Coverage” in 1994. During his broadcasting career, Davidson was also an Analyst on several national television networks, including ESPN, FOX, ABC, and NBC, and worked numerous major events including the Stanley Cup Finals, NHL All-Star Game, World Cup of Hockey, and Winter Olympics. In 2009, the Hockey Hall of Fame presented Davidson with the Foster Hewitt Memorial Award for outstanding contributions as a broadcaster. In 2004, he received the Lester Patrick Trophy for outstanding service to hockey in the United States.

Davidson and his wife, Diana, have two daughters, Lindsay and Ashley, and four grandchildren.
During his 42 years as a front office executive, Rangers Senior Advisor to the Owner and Alternate Governor Glen Sather has illustrated why he is one of the great architects in the history of hockey management. In a Hall of Fame career that has included five Stanley Cup Championships, Sather left his role as Rangers General Manager in July of 2015 having served as a General Manager for more regular season games (2,700) and earning more regular season wins (1,319) than any other General Manager in NHL history at the time. On April 4, 2019, The Madison Square Garden Company Executive Chairman and Chief Executive Officer James L. Dolan announced that Sather would transition from his role as Rangers President to a new role as Senior Advisor to the Owner and Alternate Governor.

During his tenure with the Rangers, Sather oversaw one of the most successful eras in franchise history. Over a 12-season span from 2005-06 – 2016-17, the Rangers were one of four NHL teams that reached the playoffs 11 times and were the only NHL team that was not mathematically eliminated from the playoffs prior to the start of a regular season game during the stretch. New York played in more playoff games than any NHL team over a six-year stretch from 2011-12 – 2016-17 (93) and was the only NHL team that won at least one playoff series in five of those six seasons.

In Sather’s final year as Rangers General Manager in 2014-15, the team he assembled had the most successful regular season in franchise history, establishing single-season franchise records in wins (53) and points (113) while capturing the Presidents’ Trophy for the third time in franchise history. In recognition of his efforts, Sather was selected as a finalist for the General Manager of the Year Award.

Sather was named Rangers President and General Manager on June 1, 2000. In 14 seasons as Rangers General Manager (2000-01 – 2014-15), he earned more wins (556) than any General Manager in franchise history. He also served as Head Coach of the Rangers from January 30, 2003 to February 25, 2004. Sather led the Edmonton Oilers to five Stanley Cup Championships between 1984 – 1990, overseeing the development of a revolutionary team concept as well as some of the finest individual talents ever to play the game. His achievements were recognized and honored on September 9, 1997, when he became the first member of the Oilers organization to be selected to the Hockey Hall of Fame.

During his tenure with the Oilers, the club posted a 791-652-215-8 record in 1,666 regular season games (.542 points percentage), capturing two Presidents’ Trophies, six division titles, and six conference championships. In Stanley Cup playoff action with Edmonton, Sather’s teams compiled a 133-82 record in 215 games (.619 winning percentage), leading to the club’s five Stanley Cup titles. Upon his retirement as a player following the 1976-77 season, Sather immediately joined the coaching ranks, guiding the Oilers to 12 straight WHA and NHL playoff appearances, four Stanley Cup Championships and five Stanley Cup Finals appearances between 1977 and 1989. Sather added the title of General Manager in June of 1980.

Before embarking on his executive career, Sather put together one of the most impressive coaching records in NHL history. He has served as a Head Coach in 932 NHL regular season games, compiling a record of 497-307-215-82 in 215 games (.619 winning percentage). In 126 Stanley Cup playoff games, Sather posted a record of 89-37-9. He is tied for eighth on the all-time list for playoff wins and ranks first all-time with a .706 winning percentage in the playoffs. Sather received the Jack Adams Award as the NHL’s Coach of the Year in 1985-86.

Sather’s knowledge of the game, tactical negotiating strategies, strong developmental skills, and keen ability to get the best out of his players are keys to his managerial success. During his administration in Edmonton, Sather developed a dynasty by nurturing talented draft picks Mark Messier, Kevin Lowe, Jari Kurri, Grant Fuhr, Paul Coffey, Esa Tikkanen, and Glenn Anderson, along with the acquisition of a rising star named Wayne Gretzky.

Sather’s management experience and success also carries over to the international arena. He served as Team Canada’s General Manager and Coach for the 1996 World Cup of Hockey. He also guided Team Canada’s 1994 Canada Cup Championship and was the General Manager of the gold medal-winning team in the 1994 World Hockey Championship.

A native of High River, Alberta, Sather enjoyed a successful junior career with the Edmonton Oil Kings. Following the completion of his amateur days, he became property of the Detroit Red Wings but would never wear a Winged Wheel jersey. After a season with the Central League’s Memphis Wings, Sather was drafted away from the Red Wings by the Boston Bruins in 1965, and would make his NHL debut with the Bruins in the 1966-67 season. Sather would go on to play 10 seasons in the NHL with the Boston Bruins, Pittsburgh Penguins, New York Rangers, St. Louis Blues, Montreal Canadiens, and Minnesota North Stars. In 658 regular season games, he tallied 80 goals and 113 assists for 193 points, along with 724 penalty minutes.

As a member of the Rangers, Sather appeared in 186 regular season games over parts of four seasons (1970-71 – 1973-74), recording 18 goals and 24 assists for 42 points, along with 192 penalty minutes. In addition, he was a member of the 1971-72 Rangers club which advanced to the Stanley Cup Finals.

Sather and his wife, Ann, have two sons, Justin and Shanon, and four grandchildren, Tanner, Morgan, Vienna, and Jake.
Jeff Gorton begins his 13th season with the Rangers and his fifth season as General Manager after being named the 11th General Manager in franchise history on July 1, 2015. He previously served four seasons as Assistant General Manager. Prior to becoming Assistant General Manager, Gorton spent three seasons with the Rangers as Assistant Director, Player Personnel, after serving one season as a Professional Scout.

One of the bright, young executives in an NHL front office, Gorton is building the foundation for the future of the Rangers. With the goal of adding young players into the organization, Gorton, through seven trades which were made leading up to the NHL's Trade Deadline in both 2018 and 2019, helped the Blueshirts acquire 22 assets in exchange for eight players who were on the team's roster at the time of the trades. Since February of 2018, the Rangers have selected four players in the first round of the NHL Entry Draft, including Kaapo Kakko with the second overall pick in 2019, acquired defensemen Jacob Trouba and Adam Fox in trades, and signed free agent forward Artemi Panarin.

In his first two seasons as the Rangers’ General Manager in 2015-16 and 2016-17, Gorton became the only General Manager in Rangers history to build a team that registered 100 or more points in each of their first two seasons in the role. Gorton also helped oversee an extended period of success in New York, both as the Blueshirts’ General Manager and Assistant General Manager, as the Rangers were one of three NHL teams that made the playoffs in seven consecutive seasons from 2010-11 – 2016-17. During his tenure as the Rangers’ General Manager, he has helped the team acquire several talented, young players through trades, such as Mika Zibanejad (who established career-highs in goals, assists, and points last season), Ryan Strome, and Brett Howden.

In his role, Gorton is responsible for all aspects of hockey administration for the team, including matters relating to the hockey club’s salary structure and to the team’s interaction with the National Hockey League regarding player contracts, player movement and Collective Bargaining Agreement issues. He oversees the day-to-day work of the hockey operations area, including the administration of all player and staff contracts. Gorton represents the club in salary arbitration matters, assists in negotiation of player contracts, and coordinates team research projects. In addition, he continues his involvement with the club’s professional and amateur scouting operations. Beginning with the 2019-20 season, Gorton is a Governor for the Hartford Wolf Pack of the American Hockey League (AHL).

In addition to working with the Rangers, Gorton has served on the U.S. Men’s National Team Advisory Group, collaborating with a select group of NHL executives in the player selection process for the U.S. Men’s National Team in each of the last two years. Gorton helped the U.S. Men’s National Team earn a bronze medal at the 2018 IIHF World Championship.

Prior to joining the Rangers, Gorton spent 15 seasons with the Boston Bruins organization, serving as the Bruins Assistant General Manager during the final seven years of his tenure. As Assistant General Manager, he was involved in contract negotiations, scouting operations, and the team’s American Hockey League (AHL) affiliate in Providence, Rhode Island.

Gorton served as Boston’s Interim General Manager from March 27 to July 8, 2006, directing the Bruins’ efforts at the 2006 NHL Entry Draft and negotiating contracts and trades at the start of the 2006 free agency period. At the 2006 draft, Gorton was instrumental in landing Bruins’ star players Tuukka Rask and Brad Marchand, as well as former Bruins’ stars Phil Kessel and Milan Lucic. He also acquired key All-Star free agents Zdeno Chara and Marc Savard.

Gorton originally joined the Bruins organization in their public relations department at the beginning of the 1992-93 season. He became the Bruins’ Director of Scouting Information in October 1994, where he created the scouting database which networks the club’s scouts via computer, and coordinated video on prospects in preparation of scouting assignments and the annual NHL Entry Draft. Gorton holds a degree in physical education from Bridgewater State College and a Masters in sports management from Springfield College.

Gorton resides in Somers, New York, with his wife, Cyndi, and two sons, Jack and Sam.
Chris Drury begins his fifth season with the Rangers in a front office role after rejoining the organization on September 4, 2015. He is entering his fourth season as the Rangers’ Assistant General Manager after being promoted to the post on September 2, 2016. In addition, Drury is beginning his third season as the General Manager for the Rangers’ American Hockey League (AHL) affiliate, the Hartford Wolf Pack, after being named the team’s General Manager on May 16, 2017. He also served as the team’s Director of Player Development in 2015-16.

In his expanded role, Drury assists Rangers General Manager Jeff Gorton on all player transactions and contract negotiations, and he is responsible for all hockey-related matters for the Wolf Pack. Drury also helps Gorton in overseeing and evaluating all players at the collegiate level. In addition to his role with the Rangers, Drury has worked in an executive role at the international level, serving as the General Manager for the U.S. Men’s National Team at the 2019 IIHF World Championship.

In his 12-year NHL career, the Trumbull, Connecticut native skated in 892 games with the Colorado Avalanche, Calgary Flames, Buffalo Sabres, and the Rangers, registering 255 goals and 360 assists for 615 points. Drury captured the Stanley Cup as a member of the Avalanche in 2000-01, ranking second in the NHL with 11 goals in 23 games during the team’s playoff run. In 1998-99, Drury received the Calder Trophy as the NHL’s Rookie of the Year after registering 20 goals and 24 assists for 44 points with Colorado. Drury recorded at least 20 goals in nine seasons in his career.

In addition, Drury’s team reached the playoffs in nine of his 12 seasons in the NHL, and his team advanced to the Conference Finals on six occasions. In 135 career NHL playoff games, Drury registered 47 goals and 42 assists for 89 points, along with a plus-24 rating and 46 penalty minutes. Over the 12 seasons in which he played in the NHL (1998-99 – 2010-11), Drury led the league in playoff game-winning goals (17), ranked second in playoff overtime goals (four), ranked fourth in playoff goals, and ranked ninth in playoff games played.

Drury played four seasons with the Rangers (2007-08 – 2010-11) after signing with the team as a free agent on July 1, 2007. In addition, Drury served as the Rangers captain for three seasons (2008-09 - 2010-11) after being named the 25th captain in franchise history – as well as the second American-born captain in franchise history – on October 3, 2008. In 264 regular season games with the Blueshirts, Drury recorded 62 goals and 89 assists for 151 points, along with 116 penalty minutes. Over his first three seasons with the Rangers, Drury led the team in goals (61) and points (146), ranked second in assists (85), and tied for second in game-winning goals (10). In addition, the Rangers made the playoffs three times during Drury’s four seasons with the team.

Prior to joining the NHL, Drury completed one of the most impressive collegiate hockey careers in NCAA history. Over four seasons at Boston University (1994-95 – 1997-98), Drury tallied 113 goals and 101 assists for 214 points in 155 games. During his collegiate career, the Terriers captured the National Championship in 1994-95, appeared in the National Championship Game twice (1994-95, 1996-97), and appeared in the Frozen Four three times (1994-95, 1995-96, 1996-97). Drury was selected as a First Team All-American on two occasions (1996-97, 1997-98), a Hobey Baker Finalist as the Top Player in College Hockey on three occasions (1995-96, 1996-97, 1997-98), and he became the first Terrier to receive the Hobey Baker Award in 1997-98. Drury is Boston University’s all-time leader in goals and ranks third on the school’s all-time points list.

Drury and his wife, Rory, have a son, Luke, and two daughters, Dylan and Kelly.
David Quinn begins his second season with the Rangers after being named the 35th Head Coach in franchise history on May 23, 2018. Quinn is the second Head Coach in Blueshirts history who has previously coached in the NCAA (along with Herb Brooks), and he is also the first Head Coach in Rangers history who joined the team directly from the NCAA.

During his first season behind the Rangers’ bench, Quinn successfully created an identity for the team for years to come, one which is built around a culture of relentless effort and physical play. The Rangers played 42 one-goal games during the 2018-19 season, 23 of which were decided after regulation, and their 42 one-goal games were tied for the second-most in the NHL. The Blueshirts ranked fifth in the NHL in hits (2,128) and 11th in the NHL in blocked shots (1,213) in 2018-19; New York was one of only two NHL teams that registered at least 2,100 hits and 1,200 blocked shots during the season. Quinn also guided one of the youngest teams in the NHL; by the end of the 2018-19 season, the Rangers had the youngest roster in the league (the average age of a player on the roster was 25.5 years old).

Quinn, 53, joined the Rangers after serving as Head Coach at Boston University for the previous five seasons (2013-14 – 2017-18). During his tenure at Boston University, Quinn led the Terriers to a 105-68-21 record. Under Quinn’s guidance, Boston University captured two Hockey East Tournament Championships (2014-15 and 2017-18), two Hockey East Regular Season Championships (2014-15 and 2016-17), and The Beanpot in 2014-15, while also making four consecutive NCAA Tournament Appearances (2014-15 – 2017-18). He was named both Hockey East Coach of the Year and New England Coach of the Year during the 2014-15 season, when he oversaw the biggest turnaround in school history by guiding Boston University to a 28-8-5 record, an 18-win improvement over the previous season. In addition, Quinn was the runner-up for the Spencer Penrose Award in 2014-15, which is given annually to the top Division I Men’s Hockey Coach in the country, as he helped Boston University advance to the National Championship Game. He also oversaw the development of several of the NHL’s top draft picks during his tenure as Boston University’s Head Coach, as players such as Jack Eichel, Charlie McAvoy, and Brady Tkachuk were all selected in the first round of the NHL Entry Draft after playing at least one season under his guidance.

In addition to his head coaching experience at Boston University, Quinn has been a member of several coaching staffs at the professional and collegiate level. Quinn previously served one season as an Assistant Coach in the NHL as a member of the Colorado Avalanche’s coaching staff (2012-13). Quinn served as Head Coach for three seasons with Colorado’s American Hockey League (AHL) affiliate, the Lake Erie Monsters, from 2009-10 – 2011-12 before becoming an Assistant Coach with the Avalanche.

The Cranston, Rhode Island native began his coaching career as an Assistant Coach with Northeastern University for two seasons (1994-95 and 1995-96). Quinn also worked as an Assistant Coach at the collegiate level with the University of Nebraska-Omaha (1996-97 – 2001-02) and as an Associate Head Coach with Boston University (2004-05 – 2008-09). In his final year at Boston University as an Associate Head Coach in 2008-09, he helped the school win the National Championship.

Internationally, Quinn has coached some of the United States’ top players in several tournaments, as well as helped develop players through the United States National Team Development Program (USNTDP). He was named the USA Hockey Development Coach of the Year in 2002-03, when he served as Head Coach of the United States’ Under-17 Team in the USNTDP. He began his international coaching career as an Assistant Coach with the U.S. Women’s Hockey Team at the IIHF World Championship, and he helped the team earn a silver medal in two consecutive years (1999 and 2000). He has also served as an Assistant Coach with Team USA at the IIHF World U18 Championship (2003), the IIHF World Junior Championship (2005), and the IIHF World Championship (2007, 2012, and 2016).

Prior to beginning his coaching career, Quinn played collegiate hockey at Boston University for four seasons (1984-85 – 1987-88). He was selected by the Minnesota North Stars in the first round, 13th overall, of the 1984 NHL Entry Draft, and won a bronze medal while representing the United States at the 1986 IIHF World Junior Championship. In addition, the defenseman was a member of the Rangers organization for part of one season, skating in 19 regular season games and two playoff games with the Binghamton Rangers of the AHL in 1991-92.
LINDY RUFF

Assistant Coach | Lindy Ruff begins his third season with the Rangers coaching staff after being named Assistant Coach on July 10, 2017.

Prior to joining the Blueshirts, Ruff, 59, served as a Head Coach in the National Hockey League for each of the previous 19 seasons (1997-98 – 2016-17). In 1,493 career regular season games as an NHL Head Coach, Ruff has posted a 736-554-78-125 record (.561 points percentage). He ranks sixth among head coaches in NHL history in regular season wins, trailing only Scotty Bowman, Joel Quenneville, Ken Hitchcock, Barry Trotz, and Al Arbour, and he also ranks seventh among head coaches in NHL history in regular season games coached. Ruff has also coached 120 career Stanley Cup Playoff games, and his teams have posted a 66-54 record in the playoffs (.550 winning percentage). He ranks 15th all-time in career Stanley Cup Playoff games coached and career Stanley Cup Playoff wins.

Ruff began his head coaching career in the NHL with the Buffalo Sabres in 1997-98 and served as the team’s Head Coach for parts of 15 seasons (1997-98 – 2012-13). He is the Sabres’ all-time leader among head coaches in several categories, including games coached (1,165) and wins (571). After he helped the Sabres advance to the Eastern Conference Final in his first season as the team’s Head Coach, he guided the Sabres to the Stanley Cup Final in his second season in 1998-99.

Ruff also helped the Sabres advance to the Eastern Conference Final in back-to-back seasons in 2005-06 and 2006-07. He was named the winner of the Jack Adams Award in 2005-06 for being the NHL head coach “adjudged to have contributed the most to his team’s success” during the season. Ruff guided the Sabres to a 52-24-6 record during the 2005-06 season. He was also named a finalist for the Jack Adams Award in 2006-07, as he helped Buffalo win the Presidents’ Trophy (for having the best regular season record in the NHL) for the first time in franchise history and establish a single-season franchise record with 53 wins.

Following his tenure in Buffalo, Ruff served as the Head Coach of the Dallas Stars for four seasons (2013-14 – 2016-17). He was selected as a finalist for the Jack Adams Award for the third time in 2015-16, as he guided the Stars to a 50-23-9 record and helped the team finish in first place in the Central Division and in the Western Conference during the regular season. Over Ruff’s four-season tenure in Dallas, the Stars ranked second in the NHL – and led the Western Conference – in goals per game (2.97).

Prior to beginning his head coaching career in the NHL, Ruff served as an Assistant Coach with the Florida Panthers for four seasons (1993-94 – 1996-97). During his tenure with the Panthers, Ruff helped Florida advance to the Stanley Cup Final in 1995-96. The Warburg, Alberta native has served as a member of Canada’s coaching staff in several tournaments. Ruff helped Canada earn a silver medal while serving as the Head Coach at the 2009 IIHF World Championship and also served as Team Canada’s Head Coach at the 2013 IIHF World Championship. Ruff earned a gold medal while serving as the Associate Coach for Team Canada at the 2010 Winter Olympics in Vancouver, British Columbia and the 2014 Winter Olympics in Sochi, Russia. He also earned a silver medal while serving as an Assistant Coach for Team Canada at the 2019 IIHF World Championship.

Ruff skated in 691 career NHL games over parts of 12 seasons in the league (1979-80 – 1990-91), registering 105 goals and 195 assists for 300 points, along with 1,264 penalty minutes. He played parts of three seasons with the Rangers (1988-89 – 1990-91) after he was acquired from Buffalo on March 7, 1989, and he recorded 15 points (three goals, 12 assists) in 83 career contests with the Blueshirts. Ruff was originally selected by Buffalo in the second round, 32nd overall, of the 1979 NHL Entry Draft.

Ruff and his wife, Gaye, have two sons, Brett and Brian, and two daughters, Eryn and Madeleine.
DAVID OLIVER

Assistant Coach  |  David Oliver begins his second season with the Rangers coaching staff after being named Assistant Coach on July 17, 2018.

Oliver, 48, joined the Rangers organization after spending the previous 11 seasons with the Colorado Avalanche organization (2007-08 – 2017-18). Oliver most recently served as Colorado’s Director of Player Development, a role which he held for his final four seasons in the organization (2014-15 – 2017-18), as well as for two seasons in 2009-10 and 2010-11. During his tenure, he also served in a variety of roles for the Avalanche organization, including General Manager of the Lake Erie Monsters, Colorado’s American Hockey League (AHL) affiliate, for three seasons (2007-08 – 2009-10), an Assistant Coach with Lake Erie for two seasons (2011-12 and 2012-13), and the Director of Hockey Operations with Lake Erie for four seasons (2010-11 – 2013-14). In his role as Colorado’s Director of Player Development, he assisted in the progression of several of the Avalanche’s top prospects.

Oliver served as Lake Erie’s General Manager when the team hired current Rangers Head Coach David Quinn to be the Monsters’ Head Coach prior to the 2009-10 season, and Oliver also served as an Assistant Coach on Quinn’s staff in Lake Erie during the 2011-12 season. In his most recent role with the Avalanche as Director of Player Development, Oliver assisted in overseeing the development of all the franchise’s prospects in the professional, junior, and college ranks in both North America and Europe.

Prior to beginning his tenure in a front office role, the Sechelt, British Columbia native played 13 seasons of professional hockey, including parts of nine seasons in the NHL (1994-95 – 1996-97; 1998-99 – 2000-01; 2002-03 – 2005-06). Oliver skated in 233 career NHL games with the Edmonton Oilers, New York Rangers, Ottawa Senators, Phoenix Coyotes, and Dallas Stars, registering 49 goals and 49 assists for 98 points, along with 84 penalty minutes. He played in 14 regular season games and three playoff contests with the Rangers during the 1996-97 season, and he tallied three points (two goals, one assist) in his 14 regular season games as a member of the Blueshirts. Oliver established career-highs in games played (80), goals (20), assists (19), and points (39) with Edmonton in 1995-96, and he led the Oilers in goals during his rookie season in 1994-95 with 16. He was selected by Edmonton in the seventh round, 144th overall, of the 1991 NHL Entry Draft.

Oliver also played four seasons of collegiate hockey with the University of Michigan (1990-91 – 1993-94) prior to beginning his professional career. In his final season at the school in 1993-94, he was a finalist for the Hobey Baker Award as the top player in collegiate hockey, and he was also named the CCHA Player of the Year. Oliver won the Turner Cup as International Hockey League (IHL) Champions with the Houston Aeros in 1998-99, as he registered 16 points (10 goals, six assists) in 19 playoff games.

Oliver and his wife, Shawna, have two sons, Caden and Layten.
GREG BROWN

Assistant Coach | Greg Brown begins his second season with the Rangers coaching staff after being named Assistant Coach on July 17, 2018.

Brown, 51, joined the Rangers organization after spending the previous 14 seasons as a member of the coaching staff at Boston College (2004-05 – 2017-18), including his final six seasons at the school as the team’s Associate Head Coach (2012-13 – 2017-18). In his role at Boston College, Brown was responsible for overseeing the team’s defensemen, and he also worked with the team’s special teams units. During his tenure at the school, Boston College won the NCAA National Championship three times (2007-08, 2009-10, and 2011-12). Brown assisted in the development of several defensemen who have played in the NHL, including Brian Dumoulin, Noah Hanifin, Mike Matheson, Ian McCoshen, and Steven Santini. During his final season at the school in 2017-18, Boston College ranked fourth in Hockey East in goals against per game (2.68) and led Hockey East in shorthanded goals (seven).

In addition to his coaching experience with Boston College, Brown has served as an Assistant Coach with Team USA in several international tournaments. He served as an Assistant Coach with the United States at the IIHF World Junior Championship three times (2014, 2017, 2018), helping Team USA earn a gold medal in 2017 and a bronze medal in 2018. In 2017 and 2018, Brown coached current Rangers prospects Adam Fox and Ryan Lindgren with Team USA.

Prior to beginning his coaching career, Brown completed a distinguished playing career that spanned nearly two decades at the professional, collegiate, and international levels. He played three seasons of collegiate hockey at Boston College (1986-87, 1988-89, and 1989-90), registering 120 points (24 goals, 96 assists) in 119 career games. Brown received numerous accolades over the course of his collegiate career. In both 1988-89 and 1989-90, Brown was named the Hockey East Player of the Year, was selected to the NCAA (East) First All-American Team, and was selected as a finalist for the Hobey Baker Award as the top player in collegiate hockey. During the 1987-88 season, Brown played with the U.S. Men’s National Team prior to the 1988 Winter Olympics, and he was teammates with Rangers legends Brian Leetch and Mike Richter at the 1988 Winter Olympics in Calgary, Alberta. Brown was also teammates with Leetch and Richter, as well as Rangers Head Coach David Quinn, at the 1986 IIHF World Junior Championship, where Team USA earned its first medal in the tournament’s history (bronze). In addition, Brown and Leetch played together for one season at Boston College (1986-87) and represented the United States at the 1987 IIHF World Junior Championship. Brown also represented the United States at the 1992 Winter Olympics in Albertville, France.

Following his collegiate career, the Hartford, Connecticut native played 13 seasons of professional hockey, including parts of four seasons in the NHL (1990-91; 1992-93 – 1994-95). Brown, who was selected by Buffalo in the second round, 26th overall, of the 1986 NHL Entry Draft, skated in 94 career NHL games with Buffalo, Pittsburgh, and Winnipeg, and he registered 18 points (four goals, 14 assists) and 86 penalty minutes. He also played professional hockey in Sweden, Switzerland, Austria, and Germany during his career.

Brown and his wife, Katherine, have a daughter, Ashley, and a son, Peyton.
Benoit Allaire begins his 16th season with the Rangers coaching staff after being named Assistant Coach and Goaltending Coach on July 15, 2004. Under the direction of Allaire, Rangers goaltender Henrik Lundqvist has achieved considerable success. Over his first 14 seasons with the Rangers, Lundqvist has established several franchise and league records, including franchise records for career appearances, wins, saves, and shutouts. Lundqvist became the first goaltender in NHL history to record 30 or more wins in II of his first 12 seasons, including each of his first seven seasons, and he won the Vezina Trophy as the league’s top goaltender in 2011-12. In addition, Lundqvist is one of three goaltenders in NHL history who have earned 30 or more wins in at least II different seasons, along with Hall of Famers Martin Brodeur and Patrick Roy. In 2016-17, Lundqvist became the all-time leader in wins by a European-born goaltender in NHL history and earned his 400th career NHL win in fewer appearances than any other goaltender in league history. Lundqvist enters the 2019-20 season ranked sixth on the NHL’s all-time wins list.

Prior to joining the Rangers organization, Allaire spent seven seasons as the goaltending coach for the Phoenix Coyotes. He also served as the goaltending instructor for the Montreal Canadiens for one season in 1996-97. Allaire was the first to implement the hybrid style of goaltending, a combination of stand-up and butterfly, relying on quickness and reaction to the puck, while utilizing the butterfly technique in certain situations. Under the direction of Allaire, Coyotes goaltenders enjoyed tremendous improvement and success. Before joining the Coyotes organization in 1999, Sean Burke appeared in 536 NHL games and posted a 3.21 goals against average, a .895 save percentage, and 19 shutouts. While with Allaire, Burke showed noticeable improvement, appearing in 211 matches with Phoenix and recording a 2.39 goals against average, a .919 save percentage, and 15 shutouts. He was also nominated for both the Vezina and Lester B. Pearson trophies following the 2001-02 season and appeared in the NHL All-Star Game twice (2001, 2002). Additionally, Coyotes goaltender Brian Boucher established a new modern NHL record shutout streak from December 22, 2003 to January 11, 2004, going 332:01 without allowing a goal and recording five shutouts.

Stanley Cup-winning goaltender Nikolai Khabibulin also posted significantly improved statistics under the tutelage of Allaire. Prior to Allaire joining Phoenix, Khabibulin posted a 3.03 goals against average and a .906 save percentage with nine shutouts (1994-95 - 1996-97). In his two seasons with Allaire (1997-98, 1998-99), Khabibulin participated in the NHL All-Star Game in both campaigns, and shaved more than half a goal off his goals against average.

A native of St. Janvier, Quebec, Allaire served as a goaltending instructor in the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League (QMJHL) with three different teams: Laval, Verdun and Granby. During his tenure in the QMJHL, the goaltenders under Allaire’s supervision won two President’s Cups (QMJHL’s championship) and played in two Memorial Cup Tournaments (1989-90 with Laval and 1991-92 with Verdun).

Allaire and his wife, Lyne Chalut, live in New York City.
JERRY DINEEN

Video Coach | Jerry Dineen begins his 26th season with the New York Rangers. In his role as Video Coach, Dineen assists the coaching staff with analysis of game video and pre-scouting film. He provides video for the coaches during game intermissions detailing both the Rangers’ and opponents’ tactics to either exploit offensively or make corrections defensively. In addition, Dineen prepares information for pre-game and post-game meetings in coordination with the other coaches. He also creates highlight and specialty video for the coaching staff and players.

In addition to his work with the Rangers, Dineen assisted the team’s American Hockey League affiliate, the Hartford Wolf Pack, in 1999-00 to help them win the Calder Cup Championship.

Prior to joining the Rangers, Dineen skated in 86 career East Coast Hockey League games in two seasons with the Winston–Salem Thunderbirds and Raleigh Ice Caps, registering 14 goals and 23 assists for 37 points. The Seattle, Washington native also played four years of college hockey at SUNY Plattsburgh of the ECAC-W before turning pro. He won the Division III NCAA Championship with the Cardinals during his freshman year.

SAM KELLEY

Video Assistant | Sam Kelley enters his second season with the Rangers coaching staff as the team’s Video Assistant. Kelley is responsible for helping Video Coach Jerry Dineen pre-scout games and assisting the Rangers’ coaching staff and front office with video breakdowns.

Prior to joining the Rangers, Kelley served as the Video Coordinator for Boston University for five seasons (2013-14 - 2017-18), working alongside current Rangers Head Coach David Quinn during his tenure as Boston University’s Head Coach. In his role at Boston University, Kelley was responsible for breaking down film of team practices, scouting upcoming opponents, and analyzing games to assist the team’s coaching staff during games and in between games.

Kelley majored in Communication Studies and minored in Film and TV at Boston University, and he graduated from the school in May of 2017.

MARK CIACCIO

Skills Coach | Mark Ciaccio enters his seventh season as the Rangers Skills Coach. In his role, Ciaccio is responsible for assisting in the development of players’ skills, such as skating, shooting, and stickhandling. In addition, Ciaccio assists the Rangers’ American Hockey League (AHL) affiliate, the Hartford Wolf Pack, as well as prospects in the Rangers organization.

Prior to joining the Rangers, he served as the Skills Coach for the Phoenix Coyotes for 12 seasons (2001-13), and he worked with MODO in the Swedish Hockey League (SHL). Ciaccio is the owner of MC Hockey Skills, a power skating and skill training program that holds camps worldwide.

Rod Gilbert

Director, Special Projects and Community Relations Representative

One of the all-time greats in franchise history, Rod Gilbert is now in his 31st season with the Rangers in an off-ice role, currently serving as Director, Special Projects and Community Relations Representative. Gilbert rejoined the club on August 1, 1989 to administer the growth and development of the New York Rangers Alumni Association, as well as assist in many areas of community and sponsor relations. He also serves as a goodwill ambassador for Madison Square Garden and lends his support to the Garden of Dreams Foundation through appearances, media interviews, and visiting with children from Garden of Dreams’ charity partners during special games at the Garden.

An integral part of the New York sports scene for years, Gilbert has made countless appearances on behalf of the team in order to help raise funds and generate awareness for various charitable groups throughout the Tri-State area.

Born on July 1, 1941, Gilbert won the hearts of New York fans while becoming an NHL legend over parts of 18 seasons, all as a Ranger, from 1960-61 to 1977-78. During his career, Gilbert established or matched 20 team scoring records, and at the time of his retirement in 1977, he was second only to Gordie Howe in points by a right winger in NHL history. He was inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1982.

The Montreal, Quebec native finished his NHL career with 406 goals and 615 assists for 1,021 points in 1,065 games, along with 34 goals and 33 assists in 79 playoff matches. He ranks first on the Rangers’ all-time goals and points lists, and he is the only Blueshirt to tally at least 400 career goals or at least 1,000 career points.

Playing with Jean Ratelle and Vic Hadfield on the ‘GAG Line’ (goal-a-game), Gilbert established career-highs with 43 goals and 97 points and earned First Team All-Star honors in 1971-72. Over the course of his career, he appeared in eight NHL All-Star Games and was voted a Second Team All-Star in 1967-68.

In 1976, Gilbert received the Bill Masterton Trophy, which is awarded annually to the NHL player who “best exemplifies the qualities of perseverance, sportsmanship and dedication to hockey.” The award was a fitting tribute to the courage and spirit of Gilbert, recognizing the hard work and determination that helped him overcome major back surgery early in his career, including two follow-up spinal fusion operations, to establish himself as one of hockey’s all-time greats.

In September 2007, the National Hockey League Alumni Association honored Gilbert with the 2007 Man of the Year Award.

Gilbert is immortalized in New York hockey history, as his No. 7 jersey was raised to the Garden rafters on October 14, 1979. He and his wife, Judy, reside in Manhattan and serve on the board of the Ronald McDonald House.
ADAM GRAVES

Hockey and Business Operations | One of the most popular players in franchise history, Adam Graves returned to the Rangers organization on July 19, 2005 in a dual role that uses his myriad of abilities in both the on-ice and off-ice areas of the organization. In this capacity, Graves works with the club’s hockey personnel to advance the development of key Rangers prospects, while also assisting in the development and execution of the organization’s many community outreach programs, as well as marketing and sponsorship initiatives.

Graves plays an integral role in strengthening the bond between the team and its fans while developing future Blueshirt loyalists. He is involved in a variety of youth hockey and season subscription events, and he is instrumental in supporting the efforts of the Garden of Dreams Foundation through appearances, media interviews, and participation in the fulfillment of fundraising auction experiences.

With a keen eye for talent, Graves has become an essential member of the hockey operations department. His ability to lend support and direction, both on and off the ice, has benefited many key prospects within the Rangers system. He is also involved in free agency signings and the NHL Draft with the Rangers, as well as the development of players with the Hartford Wolf Pack.

Extremely active in the community both during and after his playing career, Graves was recognized by the NHL when he received the King Clancy Memorial Trophy in 1994. The award is presented annually to the NHL player who “best exemplifies leadership qualities on and off the ice and has made a noteworthy humanitarian contribution in his community.” In 2000, he was honored with the NHL Player Foundation Award, recognizing the NHL player who “applies the core values of hockey - commitment, perseverance, and teamwork - to enrich the lives of people in his community.” Graves also received the Bill Masterton Trophy in 2001, an award given annually by the Professional Hockey Writers Association (PHWA) to the NHL player who “best exemplifies the qualities of perseverance, sportsmanship and dedication to hockey.”

During his 10-year playing career with the Rangers, Graves worked tirelessly in the greater metropolitan area with various charitable organizations, including Family Dynamics, Toys for Tots, Muscular Dystrophy Association, Dime Hometown Heroes, and Big Brothers/Big Sisters. As a result of his extensive civic efforts, Graves was also recognized with honors from countless organizations and publications, including USA Weekend’s “Most Caring Athlete” Award, Sports Illustrated for Kids’ “Good Sport” Award, and ‘The Sporting News’ “Good Guy” Award.

As a Ranger, Graves registered 280 goals and 227 assists for 507 points in 772 games. He ranks third on the Rangers’ all-time goals list and ranks 10th on the franchise’s all-time points list. He established a Rangers single-season record for goals with 52 during the 1993-94 campaign, breaking Vic Hadfield’s 22-year old club record of 50. His record stood for 12 years until Jaromir Jagr scored 54 goals in 2005-06. A two-time Stanley Cup champion, capturing titles with the Edmonton Oilers in 1989-90 and the Rangers in 1993-94, Graves represented the Blueshirts at the 1994 NHL All-Star Game and was selected as an NHL Second Team All-Star in 1993-94.

In addition, Graves received numerous Rangers team awards during his career, including: Most Valuable Player (92-93, 93-94); Player’s Player Award (91-92, 92-93, 94-95, 98-99); Ceil Saidel Memorial Award (94-95, 95-96, 96-97, 97-98, 98-99, 99-00, 00-01); Steven McDonald Extra Effort Award (91-92, 92-93, 93-94, 98-99, 99-00); John Halligan Good Guy Award (92-93); Frank Boucher Trophy (93-94); and Crumb Bum Award (1993).

A native of Toronto, Ontario, Graves signed with New York as a free agent on September 3, 1991. He was originally drafted by the Detroit Red Wings in the second round, 22nd overall, of the 1986 NHL Entry Draft. Over his 16-year NHL career, the left winger played in 1,152 career games with the Red Wings, Oilers, Rangers, and San Jose Sharks, registering 329 goals and 287 assists for 616 points.

Graves joined a select group of New York hockey immortals when his No. 9 jersey was raised to the Garden rafters on February 3, 2009. He and his wife, Violet, have three children: daughters, Madison and Montana, and son, Logan.
